

Artwork will be judged according to the following criteria:

Criteria (Points)	Driving Questions	1	2	3	4
Relevance to the Theme (36 points)	- How well does the artwork address the theme? - Does the artwork raise awareness and promote understanding of the environmental challenges associated with the theme?	The artwork does not address the theme or raise awareness of the environmental challenges it raises.	The artwork marginally addresses the theme, with limited awareness and understanding of the environmental challenges it raises.	The artwork generally addresses the theme well, with some awareness and understanding of the environmental challenges it raises.	The artwork addresses the theme exceptionally well, raising significant awareness and understanding of the environmental challenges it raises.
Creativity and Originality (24 points)	- How creative and original is the artwork? - Does the artwork stand out from other entries?	The artwork lacks creativity and originality; it does not stand out.	The artwork has limited creativity and originality, resembling other entries.	The artwork is somewhat creative and original, with unique elements that set it apart from other entries.	The artwork is highly creative and original, standing out significantly from other entries.
Visual Impact (24 points)	- How visually appealing is the artwork? - Does the artwork make effective use of color, design, and composition?	The artwork is not visually appealing; it uses color, design, and composition poorly.	The artwork is somewhat visually appealing, with basic use of color, design, and composition.	The artwork is generally visually appealing, with a good use of color, design, and composition.	The artwork is extremely visually appealing, making effective use of color, design, and composition.
Clarity of Message (16 points)	- Is the artwork's message clear and easy to understand? - Does the artwork effectively communicate its message?	The message is unclear or confusing, with poor technical skill and a lack of attention to detail.	The message is somewhat unclear, with limited technical skill and attention to detail.	The message is mostly clear, with good technical skill and attention to detail.	The message is clear and easily understood, with exceptional technical skill and attention to detail.